

Thank you for your interest in our new project!

Purple Corn Press is a small publishing company that I founded just a few months ago. I've published a poetry book, Poesia Alada, a collection of my poems in Spanish and anthology of illustrators.

My new project is very dear to my heart because one of my personal goals is to encourage children to pursue their passion, in this case writing. When I was ten years old I was already a poet in training. My mom published a small book with my poems. This was the push I needed to realize that what I did was worth it: it gave me self-confidence and purpose.

I'm looking for children poets who would like to be published. About twenty children will be selected. Their poems will be published in a poetry book, illustrated by professional artists. If your child's poetry is not selected, it doesn't mean it's "bad", it just means it wasn't a fit for this book, but they can try again in our future projects.

To read the submission guidelines go to www.purplecornpress.com

Thank you for the opportunity to read your child's poetry!

Mariana Llanos
Purple Corn Press Founder

Permission to Submit to Purple Corn Press

I understand my child _____ will submit his/her work of poetry to Purple Corn Press/Mariana Llanos for consideration for publication.

- I understand Purple Corn Press reserves the right to select the poems that will be published in the final book.
- I will be notified if my child's poetry is selected to this email address:

_____.

Parent/Legal Guardian Name: _____

City, Country: _____

Teacher's name (if submitting as part of a school project) _____

Signature: _____ Date: _____

Questions? Contact me at contact@marianallanos.com